Lou Gunter Named Young Man Of Year By Jr. Chamber

Forest Ranger Honored

About 75 members and guests of the junior chamber paid tribute ot Gunter in a Bret Harte Inn dinner.

Civic activities cited by the group showed that Gunter is senior leader of the Shady Creek 4-H Club, president of the Nevada City Lions Club, commissioner on the Boy Scouts Council, vice-chairman of the Sacramento Tahoe Forest Forum, and secretary of the Nevada County Conservation Council.

Gunter received the distinguished service award with total surprise, and vowed "to do better" in the future.

The quiet California Division of Forestry officer was the tenth man to receive the award.

ALTA OAKS-SUNSET BUCK STEW SATURDAY

The Alta Oaks-Sunset Fire Department will sponsor a Buck Stew Sunday afternoon at their fire house on Alta Hill.

Bill and Frank Gallino, well-known locally as masters of the culinary art, will be in charge of the kitchen, and promises plenty of stew for all hands.

Stew will be served from 2 to 6 p.m., and donations of $1 for adults and 50 cents for children 12 years and under, will be accepted.

Recall Petitions Are Circulated

Petitions to recall three members of the Nevada Union High School District will be circulated during the next two weeks, it was announced by the committee favoring recall Monday night.

Deadline for turning in petitions will be at a meeting of the Nevada Union High School District Recall Committee Feb. 1 at a meeting place to be announced.

Meeting in the junior high school in Nevada City, a group of about 75 persons reiterated they feel board members Jack Brickell, Robert Paine and Board President Albert Casey do not represent the majority of the district.

The committee again this week said their primary purpose was not connected directly with the saving Superintendent William Wilson's job.

With committee Chairman Leon Sanford, ill with the flu the meeting was presided over by Hal Cox.

The group heard an estimate that the recall election will cost the district between $2000 and $2200 if it is held. Members of the committee estimated, however, that the saving in rehiring Wilson would more than offset such a cost in comparison with their estimate of what the school district would have to pay a new superintendent.

The committee indicated it will likely not propose candidates who enter the races for each of the three proposed vancies.

Grampa Webber 100, Given Birthday Party

Grampa Willis Newton Webber has reached the century mark.

He turned 100 years of age Jan. 14, but neighbors gave him his party Sunday. In that way his friends and family could celebrate with him.

Although he was coming down with a cold, Grampa Webber enjoyed himself and ate a good dinner.

His birthday cake was made by Mrs. Alice Parker of Cedar Ridge. She is Mrs. Irene Mason's sister, who has shared Grampa's birthday with him the past several years.

There were 25 at the dinner, including two sons, Henry, who lives with his father, and Walter Webber and wife from Berkeley. Also present were three grandsons, George, wife Barbara and two boys; Bill Webber, wife Lorraine and daughter; Everett Reed and wife Violet; and grand-daughter Doris Sherwood, husband Homer and two daughters.

Friends present included Ernest Mason and wife Irene; Earl Jacobson, wife Doris and two boys; Stanley Ogden, Homer Sherwood's father, whose birthday was the 16th, and Blorence Uren, a neighbor.

Another neighbor, Clarence Black, gave a large turkey last year and said if Grampa lived to be 100, he had another turkey coming. Clarence came through again with another beautiful bird.

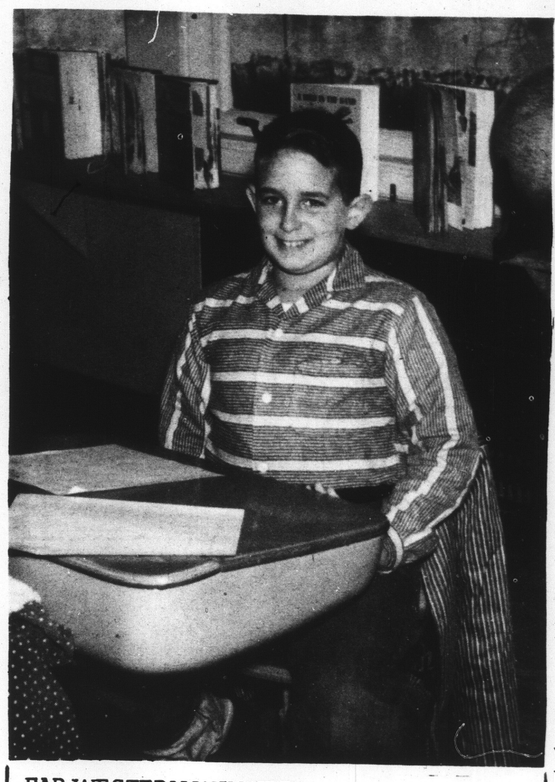
Grampa's daughters were unable to attend because of illness.

ART ASSOCIATION HOLDS MEETING

The Nevada City Art Association held its monthly meeting on Thursday, January 14th, at 8 p.m. at the Artists' Workshop and Gallery 312 Commercial Street, Nevada City.

A report was given on the Christmas Fair, following the discussion a short film on the artist, Mark Tobey was shown.

Refreshments were served to those attending.



FAR WESTERN WINNER.....of third place in a forestry conservation poster contest John Gagliardi is shown here in his third grade seat in Mrs. Jeanne Pearson's class. John, 9, will be given an award for his winning poster Friday in a Nevada City Elementary School assembly. Last year, when his teacher was Mrs. Elsie Sharpe, the winning poster was judged best in the primary division of a Keep California Green contest which included all California schools. At that time, Stanley Halls, a third grader, finished third in the California contest. John's poster was then entered in the Far Western division contest. Judging was done in Seattle. The Friday award will be given by Wayne G. Hubbard, secretary-manager of the Keep California Green Association. County Superintendent of Schools Ed Fellerson and Nevada City Elementary Superintendent Ed Abrahamson will both attend to offer congratulations. Following the award, Stanley Halls Sr. will show students of the school a film of Squaw Valley.

KEN MALONEY WINS NEW NAVY RATE

Kenneth E. Maloney Jr., aviation electronics technician second class, USN, son of Mrs. and Mrs. Kenneth E. Maloney of Nevada City was promoted to the present rate, Dec. 16, while serving with the Patrol Squadron 50 at the Whidbey Island Naval Air Station, Oak Harbor, Wash.

Girl Scouts Seek Use Of Park

A request from the Grass Valley Area Girl Scout Council for acreage in Condon Memorial Park was referred last week by the Grass Valley City Council to its unoffical park commission for recommendation.

A delegation of three Girl Scout officials requested up to 15 acres a day camp and immediate permission to use the grounds as site for hiking.

The council granted use of the park for hiking, but asked the delegation to meet with the park commission to "arrange for use of the land."

Mrs. William Wetherall, president of the Girl Scout Council, led the delegation. With her were Mrs. Peter Van DerWende Jr., camp chairman, and Mrs. Harry Stewart, Girl Scout liason official in reference to use of the park.

Mrs. Wetherall said about 120 Girl Scouts could be expected to use a day camp site at Condon Memorial Park during a series of two-week summer periods.

She said the Girl Scout were willing to attempt to preserve the natural state of the park, make necessary improvements other than sewer lines, erect a simple shelter with volunteer aid, make the camp available to as many girls as possible by low fees, and open the camp site to other groups within the framwork of Girl Scout rules.

Man Trapped In Auto

Harold Chester Wasley, 25, Del Paso Heights, formerly of Grass Valley, spent nearly three cold hours pinned in his car early in the morning, Jan. 13.

The mishap occurred shortly after midnight on Highway 20 two miles east of Nevada City.

Wasley told investigation officers of the California Highway Patrol he was westbound at about 35-miles an hour, and rounding a curve, came upon a late-model car parked on the road with parking lights on.

He swerved to the left to avoid a collision, and his wheels locked as they had done on a previous occasion.

Wasley said he attempted to leave the car when he realized what had happened, but though he managed to open the door, was unable to get out.

The car left the road, traveling about 60 feet down a 35 pre cent grade. Wasley was pinned between the steering-post and left side of the car. He was discovered about two hours later by a passing motorist.

The angle at which the car was wedged in the ditch made Wasley's removal difficult until Angelini Brothers' tow truck had righted the vehicle.

The Nevada City Rescue Squad, with the aid of their "Porto-Power", a bar, and a hacksaw, managed to free the man and he was taken immediately to Miners' Hospital, Nevada City, by Twin Cities' Ambulance Service.

The "Porto-Power" is a convertible hydraulic-driven forcible entry tool which the Nevada City Rescue Squad most recently added to their equipment.

Examination showed Wasley's injuries to be minor, and after being treated for exposure, he was released from the hospital the following day.

SNOWSHOE THOMPSON AND THE BIRTH OF SKIING AS A SPORT

BY STANLEY H. HALLS

III

Snowshoe Thompson Crosses The Sierra

There can hardly be any doubt that Snowshoe Thompson stimulated the rapid growth of skiing in the Western snow country; but he was, above all, something more than a mere clever fellow who had mastered the trick of riding across the deep snows on a pair of curved boards. John A. Thompson was one of those rare popular heroes whose exploits were to make him a legendary figure in his own time. The passing of the years and the telling and re-telling of the stories of his feats on skis - to generations that are spared the struugle with the forces of nature - have added such color and lustre to his accomplishments, so that he is now one of the West's great legendary heroes.

Now perhaps every historical personality becomes cloaked in a certain amount of unverifiable legend and this might even be so of John A. Thompson. However "Snowshoe" was a real flesh and blood character and his role in the history of the California Sierra is clearly definable.

Who was this man and why is his name so honored among the fraternity of skiers in particular, and among the people of the West?

AN ISSUE -- UP FOR GRABS

Recently we expressed the wish that the candidates during this election year concern themselves with the issues that face us.

One issue that is of prime importance to the nation in general and the Sierra Nevada region in particular is the need for wise and conservative use of our most valuable resource, open green space.

John B. Oakes, conservation editor of the New York Times, wrote in a recent article, "The unprecedented prosperity that the nation is now enjoying ought to induce increased capital investment in long-term programs that will assure preservation of its dwindling natural resources. This would be real economy, and an imaginative leadership in Administration and Congress would seize an opportunity that may well be America's last."

Yes, imaginative leadership would seize this opportunity. But we do not have imaginative leadership, either in the Administration or in Congress. The President in his state-of-the-union message makes no mention whatever of this or many other pressing domestic issues. And Senate leaders seem endlessly concerned with a couple of rockets that blew up at Cape Canaveral last summer.

For some reason, national political leaders are now neglecting an issue which in the past has had great vote-getting appeal and has been used by both parties, most notably by the Republicans under Theordore Roosevelt and by the Democrats under Franklin Roosevelt.

It is particularly strange that at a time when increasing populations are making increased demands upon decreased land resources--in other words, at a time when the broad problems of conservation really mean something to the average citizen--the issue is largely ignored.

Sometime soon a smart politician is going to pick up this issue and carry it down the field. We say more power to him.

4-H CLUB ACTIVITIES

WOODCHUCKERS FORESTRY

On December 12, 1959, we had our first Forestry meeting at Mr. Matson's home.

We discussed what we would like to learn this year. We also discussed grades of lumber, how to tell the age of a small tree, and the importance of our forests and how they help us in many ways.

Reporter - Larry Matson

PEARDALE

At our November meeting we discussed plans for a skating party. There were five cooking demonstrations by Carol Lee Wishmeyer, Kathy Wishmeyer, Jessie Conley, Linda McDonald, and Judy Newman. We chose committees for our Christmas party. After the meeting we had refreshments and played games.

During November we made 100 favors for the Nevada County Hospital for Thanksgiving and followed this with a weiner roast. We also had a skating party at Marysville with the Chicago Park Club.

NEVADA CITY

The second meeting of the first and second year Cooking Class was held on December 4, 1959, at the home of Jack Costa, our Junior Leader.

We reviewed the written material in the front of our books and made a macaroni salad.

Those who attended were: Stephen Lieurance, Susan Lieurance, and Mike McCormick.

ROUGH AND READY

The Rough and Ready 4H Club is going strong under the leadership of Lois and Ed Davies.

At our meeting on December 10 we elected Stephenie Hackett and Mrs. Hackett as recreation chairmen.

Mrs. Head was there and talked about insurance and we all agreed to bring a dollar for it. We decided not to have a Christmas party.

DONALD WORTHLEY

CITIZEN OF THE WEEK

Snowtime Is A Busy Time

When the snowfall on Highway 20 gets heavy, our Citizen of the Week gets busy.

Like others who work for the California Division of Highways, Maintenance Division, Donald Worthley put in some 12 hour days since the clouds have been flaking a blanket of snow onto streets and highways hereabouts.

Worthley, 547 Coyote Street, Nevada City, has been working for the Division of Highways for eight years.

Moving up and down Highway 20 as the snow level fluctuates, the truck enforces regulatings calling for chains. Other division men operate snow removal equipment up road from the warning truck.

In the summertime, crews of the division enjoy less weatherbeaten chores--patching state highways throughout the area.

With melting snow, the crews will be kept busy locating and removing falling rocks, Worthley said. Highway 20 has few slides, but falling rocks can be a problem on it.

SIERRA BYWAYS

BY DEAN THOMPSON

Somewhere along these Byways there is a Bellanca low-wing monoplane, number N 6552 N, to be exact. It was the victim of the storm on the afternoon of Dec. 30, 1959.

The wreckage is worth $1500 to the first person that locates it.

Four persons are presumed dead in the accident--Larry and Cleta Forrester and Stanley and Evelyn Gardner, all of Seattle.

The two couples were on their way from Oroville to Las Vegas when last seen.

Of the reward, $1000 is offered by the South District Multiple Listing Bureau, Inc., 4202 Rainier Avenue, Seattle. Forrester Realty is a member of the bureau. Families of those lost have an additional $500 added to the reward for recovery of the bodies.

Deadline for collecting the reward is June 30, 1960.

We noted elsewhere in this week's issue that a family whose cat was rescued from high atop one of our area's trees expressed their appreciation to the volunteer fire department with a donation.

This would seem the logical time to remind residents in Western Nevada County that many--indeed, most of the fire departments in our area are not tax supported.

They depend on fund raising activities to keep the equipment in order, and the volunteers who man the rigs also man the fund raising lines.

Eight of these departments are: Gold Flat, Watt Park, 49er, Ophir, Peardale, Bullion, Alta Oaks, and Penn Valley.

These eight have 20 pieces of equipment and 240 firemen.

Nevada City and Grass Valley departments are also volunteer in nature, although supported partially from City funds.

IT'S COLD NOW...as cold as we would like to see it...and when one drives down the road and the car slides, you wonder if it is worth it at all, and we suppose it is, but it makes a person wonder sometimes...especially, if you are the unlucky guy with the front end of your car bashed in, or the rear end hanging over a crevass.

If you have been watching TV lately, you have had some interesting experiences, fer instance: On the South-North game, the band from some tiny parish in Louisiana put some of the big high schools to shame, such precision, and they could make good music too. Then on the other hand, the Dixie Darlings are getting to be too darling...every year, every southern game...as far as we are concerned, the fad is wearing mighty thin, and so are their costumes...so it makes you wonder if 'The South Shall Ever be Able to Rise' again.

DID YOU reminisce with Hedda the other night? Mickey Mouse is 32 years old...Janet Gaynor made some of the older (just plain old) stars look to their laurels, she still looks good. Some of the others looked just what they are... older...friend, Older!

But seeing Judy Garland's daughter did it...really did it...there she was singing 'Over the Rainbow' just the way her mother did when we were all younger... but then, Miss Garland doesn't look like any rose in bloom anymore, either. Mickey Rooney's son visited the old Judge Hardy set...well, don't say we did not warn you...time is passing...just as Mr. Dillen replaced Tim Holt, Valentino's successor is Rip Torn. Rip TORN? Doesn't that tear it?

This week in babies...has darned near been one of infamy...Our Citizen of The Week suddenly turned up with the wrong parents...the typewriter does not think correctly, you know how it is...anyway our apologies to the Ashleys, and our condolences to the Stevens, if you saw Andrea Lynne, you would probably wish she was yours...

ORCHIDS to Mr. and Mrs. Willard Smith of the Gold Center Club, who are sending cup cakes and cookies and goodies to the patients at the Nevada County Hospital. The Smiths are certainly two of the nicest additions to the community.

If you have any suggestions as to what YOU would like to see on this page, let us know, if it is possible - your wish shall be our command.

WONDER how long this white stuff is going to be with us...we can just hear the gripes that will be going on if this continues...and we will be among the loudest...This Colorado girl we know has had her fill of it in the past...That soft white stuff is wonderful in the high mountains, but in town, as far as she is concerned, it is just the living end...In fact we feel rather holed up, and as a result haven't even been about to find any of the more choice tidbits of information.

WHO'S NEW IN WHO'S WHO...Mr. and Mrs. Bert Manley of Grass Valley became the parents of Bert Cameron on January 9th at Miners Hospital.

The nice nurses at Jones tell us that Mr. and Mrs. Walter Joseph Bailey of Grass Valley are the parents of a son, Theron Walter, Born Jan. 9th.

Sierra Hospital hosted the arrival of Diana Louise, baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Lincoln of Grass Valley on January 8th. On the 9th of January, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Kelley of Grass Valley became the parents of Lisa Ann. On Jan. 10th, Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey J. Dunbar, Jr. became the parents of Tamera Lyn who will make her home in Grass Valley.

January 12th the David Winkles of Grass Valley welcomed a son, William David, while the A. K. Jensens became the proud possessors of a new daughter. January 13th, Mr. and Mrs. William Thornton of Grass Valley became the parents of Tucker William. January 14th, Mr. and Mrs. Mickey Mulligan welcomed a son, Donald Gene.

We are wet and cold, and that goes for the three of us...so we go, hand in hand our backs to the blizzardy winds to find solace on Piety Hill.

Bye now!

Snowshoe Thompson

was born in 1872 in Telemark, Norway. American contemporaries of this famous snow traveler have described him as being nearly six feet in ehight, weighing 180 pounds, and having piercing blue eyes. History records that he came to this country at the age of ten with his mother and brother, and living for various periods of time in Illinois, Wisconsin and Missouri before setting out for California in 1851.

Upon arriving in the gold country, he prospected for a time around Coon Hollow and at the Kelsey diggings near the town of Placerville, but in 1854, discouraged with his luck, he turned to raising cattle on a piece of land he had taken up at Putah Creek in the Sacramento Valley.

It was during the fall of 1855, while working this ranch, that he heard of the difficulties involved in carrying the mail over the Sierras in the deep of winter. Musing over this bit of information, he recalled his boyhood experiences on skis in the Telemark hill country of his native Norway, and fashioned a pair of these "snowshoes" as he remembered them. After a few weeks of practice in using these new devices, he applied to the postmaster of Hangtown (Placerville) for the job of carrying the mail over the mountain route between Placerville, California and Genoa, Nevada.

It should be stated here that by the winter of 1854-55, the eastern, or Nevada side of the Sierra Nevada Range had been quite populously settled. However, the towering mountains on the west and the vast expanse of desert country to the east were, during the winter months, the playground of howling storms that literally isolated the peoples of the area and left them without any regular means of communication with the outside world.

The tremendous depth of the snows upon the Sierra rendered the passage by both man and pack animals not only difficult but dangerous and often, for months, wholly impracticable.

To remedy this great inconvenience and secure to the peoples on both sides of the mountains a regular correspondence, John A. Thompson conceived the idea or riding the crests of the deep snows on Norwegian type snowshoes, thus speeding letters and "intelligence" back and forth between the communities of California and Nevada.

The postal people and others were skeptical that Thompson could make these freezing snowy trips on his pair of curved boards, but in January 1856 he made his first crossing from Placerville to Genoa, a distance of about 90 miles. More or less regularly after that first trail, Thompson made this trip twice a month during the winter seasons. On these runs he carried mail bags on his back weighing 60 to 80, and sometimes 100, pounds. The trip eastward required three days and the return trip two days. Often he crossed the mountains without seeing a human face or a dwelling along the entire route.

He carried no blanket and wore nothing heavier than a Mackinaw jacket. His food was limited to what he could eat while on the move; usually dried meat, crackers or biscuits which he carried in his pockets. For water he drank from mountain streams or scooped up snow on the fly, melting it in his mouth. Using his mail sack for a pillow, he slept where night overtook him. Wherever possible he camped under some projecting rock and a favorite retreat was at Cottage Rock near Strawberry Valley where he discovered a tiny cave, at the entrance of which he could build a fire. In storms he sometimes had to forego the luxury of a fire, but even so, there is no record that he ever suffered severely from the cold.

The people of Genoa had ed Thompson's visits and looked forward to the coming of the "Expressman of the Sierras," as he soon came to be known. On both sides of the mountain, his trips were heralded as amazing feats of strength and personal accomplishment. That he could make the trip at all was an amazing thing to these winter shut-ins, but that he could cross the 90-mile trackless mountain vastness in three days was indeed considered some kind of mountain magic.

Rev. Charlotte Hickman, retired Methodist pastor who was a friend of Mrs. Cartwright, officiated at the services.

Interment was North San Juan Cemetery.

Mrs. Cartwright was the widow of the late Robb Cartwright, who passed away in 1950. Mrs. Cartwright was born in Walwega, Wisc., moved to North San Juan in 1952.

Twenty-seven sprays and a church packed with friends attested to her popularity in the community.

Non-Ambulatory Persons Offered New Fire Emblem

An attractive reflective emblem for the protection of non-ambulatory residents in homes of western Nevada County, is being distributed by the Nevada City Fire Department.

The emblems will immediately indicate to any Fireman that a handicapped person is confined there and his first duty is to safeguard the life of that person.

Fire Chief Norman Kopp urges that all residents who know of such persons, contact him or Ted Sigourney at the City Hall in Nevada City.

If desired, a fireman will gladly install the emblem upon request.

Chief Kopp said that posting an emblem on the front and on the back doors of a home, with a smaller emblem on the door of the room in which the patient is confined, will greatly aid Firemen in case of emergency.

NC LAD'S SHIP NOW IN VALLEJO

James L. Aebersold, fireman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer L. Aebersold of MTR., Box 46, Nevada City is serving aboard the escort vessel USS Bridget undergoing an overhaul and repair period at the Mare Island Naval Shipyard, Vallejo.

This is the first overhaul for the ship since it was commissioned in October 1957.

The Diamond Walnut Growers, Inc., with headquarters at Stockton, was organized in 1912.

Art Class Offered In Adult Education

Among the Adult Education courses to be offered, beginning in February, will be one expected to be popular in this area.

Robert Gilberg will teach an art course, beginning Feb. 1, and to be held thereafter each Monday and Wednesday from 7 until 9 p.m. at the Nevada Union Junior High School on Zion Street.

The registration fee for the course will be $2.

Gilberg will take up water colors as the beginning faze, and will progress through other mediums if there is a request for it.

Each student will supply his own paints, (preferably the tube paints), brushes, and water color pads.

Water color is especially useful for this type of instruction because the work can usually be finished during the two hours, or if incomplete, is dry and can be carried without fear of smearing it.

All those who are interested in taking this course should sign up at the Junior High School in Nevada City, 7 p.m., Feb. 1.

Religious Movie

Evangelist Billy Graham's latest motion picture "THE HEART IS A REBEL", starring Ethel Waters, Georgia Lee and John Milford, is scheduled to be shown at the First Baptist Church, 714 W. Main Street, Grass Valley, Jan. 21, 6 p.m. and 8 p.m., two showings.

The story is based on a conflict in the life of a modern young couple when the husband, an advertising executive, can't find a place in his scheme-of-things for his wife's sudden acceptance of the Christian faith.

In a completely "down-to-earth" setting the situation provides a dimension of reality seldom afforded a religious motion picture.

Ethel Waters adds luster to her long career in the role of the practical nurse who exerts a profound influence on the young couple through her day-by-day faith in God!

Q. Well--what am I missing this week in The Citizen?

A. Concise, hard-hitting news pictures and stories; exclusive Citizen features. For example...stories on The Young Man of the Year; Parents' Plans for Teenagers; The latest on school board recall; Pictures of local snow scenes; the Citizen of the Week--a man with a snow season job; a Picture of the Past--a giant arch across Mill Street; social news and pictures; NEW correspondents from Nevada County communities; pictures, pictures, pictures, and news, news, news.

Q. How can I subscribe?

A. Fill in the blank on this page and mail it in, or call The Citizen, GV or NC 126.

Gra-Neva Appliance Firm Opens

Gra-Neva Appliances, Grass Valley's newest business, opened its doors this week under the co-ownership of Stanley S. Thompson and Clifford A. Nicholls.

Preview Opening specials are advertised this week.

Gra-Neva has been named authorized dealer for General Electric TV, Jacuzzi Whirlpool Baths, Hoover Vacuum Cleaners, and Columbiamatic Fabric Doors.

Stan and Cliff, with the help of their wives--Adah and Gail--are busily completing plans for the grand opening, which will be held Jan. 28.

Numbered advertising circulars, which are being mailed, are worth $1 discount on a TV Service Call at Gra-Neva. A drawing will be held Saturday, Jan. 30th, and the numbers published.

The person having the circular with the lucky number will take home a Hoover Vacuum Cleaner. The second prize is a table-model radio, third--a Hoover Steam Iron, fourth and fifth--$4.95 TV Service Call.

A free gift--while they last--will be given at the Grand Opening to each person visiting the store.

Nicholls, a former resident of this area, will put his extensive training and experience to good use in the service department specializing in TV service--both black and white, and color.

Thompson, who has close relations in this area and was attracted to Grass Valley at first sight, will handle sales and vacuum cleaner service.

Gra-Neva was chosen as the store's name to indicate coverage of the Grass Valley and Nevada City area.

The Redstone rocket is a liquid fuel rocket with a velocity of Mach 15, now in service with the 217th Missile Battalion.

Chicago Park News

By JOSEPHINE PEASE

Folks driving through Chicago Park all stop to admire the school house. It stands out among the pines clean and fresh in its new red and white coat of paint. There is still some painting left to do, part of the roof and some of the trim. The painting represents many Saturdays of hard work donated by some of the parents and teachers.

A tea was held Wednesday, January 6, at the home of Mrs. Ruby Jewell. Twenty-four ladies of this vicinity and adjoining areas met to organize the new Chicago Park Garden Club.

Purpose of the group is to learn something of landscaping, flowers and such, also to help one another beautify their gardens through mutual assistance.

Speakers at future meetings will include landscape architects, gardeners, floral arrangers and specialists in home beautification fields.

A plant sale will be held in the near future, where plants will be sold for a minimum fee.

Officers elected were Mrs. Myrtle Kimberlin, President; Mrs. Ruby Jewell, vice-president; Mrs. Pat Jones, secretary; and Mrs. Joyce Garbello, treasurer.

Meetings of the newly formed Garden Club will be held on the first Wednesday of each month. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Kimberlin, February 3rd.

Realtors Install Officers For New Year

He and other officers were installed by Don Lucas, Sacramento. Lucas has held many officers with the California Real Estate Association.

Other Realtors installed included Joseph E. Day, vice-president; Earl Erickson, secretary-treasurer; and directors Charles Deardorf, William Stinson (retiring president), Esther Stocks, Edwin Williford, Andrew Baker and Emil Stroud.

Decorations for the affair were in keeping with the new year, and the meeting was reported as "marked with joviality and good fellowship."

AUBURN AMER. LEGION MEETING

Marian Mansfield, American Legion Auxiliary legislative chairman for the sixth District, and Senator Ron Cameron will speak at an American Legion meeting, Wednesday, Jan 27, in Auburn.

They will discuss recent legislation with reference to veterans and their families.

Harry Rowe, Commander of the Richard W. Townsend Post #84, and Rose Pennington, President of the American Legion Auxiliary, extend an invitation to all veterans and families to attend the meeting.

It will be an informal pot-luck supper at the Auburn Memorial Hall, starting at 6:45 p.m.

UP A TREE...climbs a fireman in response to a call of "Fireman, Save My Cat." The cat, chased into the tree by another feline, climbed higher until both were nearly to the top. Then the fireman hero coaxed the cat within his grasp (see arrow). A job well done, firemen from Gold Flat and Watt Park departments talk it over. Shown above are (left to right) Dow Alexander, Don Fowler, M.L. Seaman and Jess Nelms. Fowler is chief at Gold Flat and Seaman heads the Watt Park Volunteers.

Country Cat Chases City Kitty Up Tree

When a city cat meets a country cat, the fur begins to fly. Mr. and Mrs. H.F. Piepenstock of Hidden Valley, saw their city cat, Kitty Pus, chased up a 125 foot pine tree by a country cat.

Now, as everyone knows, a city cat has no reverse gear when up a pine tree. As a result, the cat spent the weekend of the 8th in the tree.

The Watt Park Volunteer Fire Department with the cooperation of the Gold Flat Volunteer Fire Department were called Tuesday morning to rescue Kitty Puss, when it became apparent that the cat would not, or could not come back down the tree of its own accord.

Jess Nelms, equipped with only logging hooks, climbed the GFVFD 40 foot ladder and traversed the rest of the way by hook luck and prayer to the top of the 125 foot tree.

As he neared the cat, the cat traversed higher and farther out on the various limbs, until both cat and Nelms were in the very top of the tree.

By coaxing and calling, Nelms finally grabbed the cat, and swinging from his perch stuffed the protesting feline into his sweat shirt, and began the trip downward.

When he had reached about 80 feet, he dropped the cat, into a blanket held by Dow Alexander, Don Fowler, Al Cresswell, and M.L. Seaman.

Cats being what they are, Kitty Puss took off like a streak for his home and a welcome bowl of warm milk.

Mr. and Mrs. Piepenstock are new to this area, having moved to Hidden Valley last May from Huntington Park.

However, they now know that there are many good neighbors in the community, and showed their appreciation by making a donation to M. L. Seaman, Chief of the newly organized Watt Park Volunteer Fire Department.
